American Soldiers in Hospitals and Camps Take

Interest in Series.

London, Sept. 10.—Thousands of American soldiers in camps and hospitals throughout Great Britain have been following the world's baseball series now being played in America with the greatest interest. The scores of the contests reach the soldiers in the daily news bulletin of happenings in America which was established by the Red Cross several months ago. More than 600 of these bulletins are posted every day at the places where play on the bust and turned the ball loose with a mighty and well directed heave. It sailed into agnews hands on the first bound and the catcher rode Hollocher home. In the seventh and ninth the Cubs perished with little effort.

At the hospitals where American wounded are receiving treatment the scenes at the camps are duplicated on a smaller and less demonstrative scale. Every ward is just buzzing with baseball chatter these days. The men seem to be about evenly divided in their allegiance to the Cubs and Red Sox. Many of the American nurses seem to be as keenly interested in the outcome as their charges.

Hollocher started with a clean single to center, but Mann skied to Strunk. Paskert was patient and worked Jones for a free ticket to station one. Merkle belted hard line drive to left and when Hollocher endeavored to count on the blow he was caught at the plate by inches only. Whiteman made a fast play on the bust and turned the ball loose with a mighty and well arrected heave. It sailed into Agnew's hands on the first bound and the the sixth.
